Welcome to The Unitarian Universalist Congregation of Santa Rosa!

THE NEXT DECADE
By REV CHRIS BELL
This past June, after a year of surveys, house-meetings and deep thinking led by Alan Proulx, Linda Stabler and Marilyn Beckerbauer, with assistance from yours truly, the UUCSR Board unanimously affirmed a vision statement for our next decade as a congregation. The words (in italics below) do not replace our current Vision for the congregation (“To live as fully as possible our Unitarian Universalist Principles, and to nurture a liberal religious community in Sonoma County”), but they do give more concrete shape to what living out that Vision might look like. These words will help to guide the decisions and directions of the ministers, the staff, the Board and our many lay leaders over the next ten years. I think of the Next Decade vision statement as a skeleton supporting a whole host of aspirations, a few of which I’ve fleshed out below.

In 2025, the UU Congregation, Santa Rosa Will actively and joyfully pursue our Mission. Maybe this one could have gone without saying, but I’m glad we said it! Celebrating life, empowering people, caring for one another and helping to build a better world are the very essence of what we are trying to do here together in our worship, religious education, fellowship, direct service and our justice-making (or at least justice-seeking!) work of advocacy and community organization. As a general rule, I think that if a ministry or activity isn’t described by one of the clauses in our Mission, we really shouldn’t be bothering with it.

We will offer rich opportunities for spiritual growth, personal development, and increasing happiness. Personal growth was the most cited reason that people attend UUCSR. Therefore, this year we will see a major “re-launch” of our Together in Exploration (T.I.E.) groups and continuing to expand our Adult Religious Education offerings to better accommodate parents and working people. I am also shelving Scripture Study for the time being to offer more distinctly UU classes.

We will deeply engage the monthly worship themes and sermon topics in small groups. It was a pleasant surprise to me how frequently this goal was proposed. So, to begin with, each month one of the T.I.E. group topics will directly relate to one of the worship themes or topics. We also hope leaders will begin step forward to facilitate discussion groups after the services. I am committed to better utilizing social media platforms for this goal, with sermons/services to be posted online and space for comments and conversation about them.

We will offer frequent and enjoyable opportunities for intergenerational connection and & community participation. Bringing younger and older people together more frequently was another top priority for you, as was reaching out to the homebound, offering more family-friendly social activities, and enjoying more neighborhood-based social gatherings. We will also continue to pour attention and resources into our Children’s R.E. program.

We will skillfully and eagerly welcome newcomers into a caring and hospitable covenanted fellowship. I take great pride already in how friendly you are to new folks, but we can always improve our embrace and integration of visitors, friends and new members. To truly achieve this goal, every member must consider themselves a part of the welcoming team. Phone calls, invitations to dinner or coffee, and handshakes/smiles on Sunday morning should flow from each and every one of us. Furthermore, we want to see our men’s and women’s groups and retreats grow, and become even more open.

We will tithe 10% of our budget to outside charitable organizations and programs. This one was easy to affirm because we are already doing it! I am so personally proud of you for this achievement. There is no clearer demonstration of the generous heart beating within the Glaser Center.

We will sustain a state of financial health and power from a 5-10% tithe from our membership. That same generous heart is going to keep this community strong and growing. Our new Philanthropy Team will guide us through a year-long effort to maintain our financial security, in contrast to the once-a-year push of past canvasses. A system of “sustaining pledges” along with periodic campaigns for specific goals should enable us to be creative, and continue to develop new ministries and forms of service internally, and externally to the wider community of Santa Rosa and Sonoma County.

We will adequately care for and expand our physical plant to accommodate our growth and change. In this area we heard calls to ensure adequate hours for the Sexton position, and calls to upgrade the kitchen, the social hall and the courtyard to improve the coffee hour experience. Several of these improvements are already underway. Look for new outdoor furniture and a shade in the Courtyard to help fight the sun and take more advantage of that space.

As great as all these ideas are, none of them can become reality without committed leaders and volunteers. Each one depends on someone to take the [continued on page 11]
UUCSR COVENANT  We pledge to seek unity in our diversity, to welcome and respect divergent opinions and beliefs, to listen to one another with open hearts and minds, to acknowledge our shortcomings and be quick to forgive them in others, and to keep our focus on our Mission.

Greetings from Our Board President...

As of this writing, the Board is looking forward to our Annual Retreat, and our first meeting of the fiscal/church year. I look forward to meeting and welcoming our new ministerial intern, Millie Phillips, who will be joining the Board at our retreat. Her first Sunday service is scheduled for September 6th.

Every August Andy and I enjoy attending the UUCSR Summer Camp. This year the camp returned to Enchanted Hills, which is as lovely as it sounds. It was a great event as always, if a tad toasty temperature-wise. We kept cool at the pool and under the trees. What a perfect opportunity this was to get away for the weekend and mingle and play with other UUCSR congregants and their guests. I especially enjoyed meeting the kids and getting to know their parents. (By the way, the beds are comfortable and the food is great!)

Huge thanks and appreciation to the Summer Camp committee who put so much of their time and energy into creating such a special time for us.

Do mark your calendars for the Fall Congregational Meeting scheduled for October 4, 2015 after our one Sunday Service at 9:15 AM. Here is one last reminder for committee chairs and other group leaders to get your contributions to the Annual Report in to Janis before September 7th. This due date will allow Janis time to compile the reports for distribution at the Fall Congregational Meeting. Thank you for all you do!

Blessings,
Susan Bartholome, Board of Trustees President

2015 UUCSR Annual Auction
November 7

It’s September and the Annual Auction is only two months away.
Mark your calendar if you haven’t!

Do you know yet what you might want to donate?

Everyone has something to give--an item, a service, a class, a meal, a party, or an outing.

Some suggestions to get you thinking:

Items: A special item you can no longer use, such as high quality arts, crafts, collectibles, or wearables that show little or no use? Bring it in! (But remember, this is not a rummage sale.)

Services: Special skills? Give a few hours of your time. Anything you can do that someone else would pay for is a good donation—detail someone’s car, donate child care, frame a picture, clean a house, give computer support, financial counseling, a family portrait session.

Classes: What is your area of expertise? Give a class in dance, bread-making, felting, meditation, decorating Easter eggs, playing an instrument, gift-wrapping, drought-tolerant plants.

Food and fellowship: Anything from fine dining, ethnic feasts, or food and wine pairings to a traditional high tea, chili and beer, or pizza and a movie.

Parties: The possibilities are endless. Board games, charades, women’s clothing swap, book swap, an Amazing Race, Children’s Museum with other UU families, poker, beer tasting, Oscar Night party, Superbowl party, pottery...

Outings: Star-gazing at the Observatory, a bicycle ride followed by brunch, a guided tour of a favorite place.

Donation forms will be available after services starting September 13 or in the office anytime.
Treasurer’s Report

The books are closed on our 2014-2015 fiscal year!
And it was a good one…

Remember a year ago? We started last year with a budget that included some pretty difficult cuts in expenses from the previous year. We had to accept that we may not be able to pay our full dues to the UUA and PCD. The Board had several tough meetings, trying to figure out how to balance our budget without negatively impacting our programs and priorities.

And now, here we are, after completing a fiscal year that started with much gnashing of teeth and wringing of hands, in a very positive position. We were able to pay our full dues to UUA and PCD and provide assistance to several members to attend General Assembly to boot. And we ended with cash left over with which we will be able to fund some of our most pressing priorities.

This month this column is more personal than factual. Next month I’ll provide a full report of our 2014-2015 financial results.

Having worked on the pledge drives and budgeting for a few years now, I note a real difference in mood taking hold in the past few months. This congregation has always been forward-looking and optimistic, in my experience, with a strong drive to get things done. But on the financial side, it has felt as if we haven’t paid as much attention in the past, as if money were a necessary evil that few wanted to talk about. It felt like an uphill battle, trudging through molasses to get to a point where we could fund at least some of our wish list. It feels like some of that is abating and I sense more of an openness to discuss financial aspects. Maybe that’s related in some ways to our growth.

Last year’s budget process was a real low for me in my UUCSR financial experience and it resulted from a pledge drive that failed to reach its goals. I’ve had my share of failures in my life and that one was tough. But like most painful failures, it had some great lessons.

I credit last year’s painful process with giving me the incentive to look for another way. The annual pledge drive is so ingrained in church life that I might not have questioned it had it not been for the discouraging result of that pledge drive. Many people had worked very hard and still we had come up short. I wasn’t sure I could go through that again. And then the little book, Making the Annual Pledge Drive Obsolete, fell onto my path. It made sense to me, then also to Chris, and the Board and the Financial Stewardship Team.

I would be lying if I told you that I am not a little nervous about how we will fare without an annual pledge drive to remind everyone to make their pledge. But I am really excited by the plans of our Philanthropy Team whose year round activities will take the place of annual pledge drives. And I am grateful to all of you for your continued generosity and openness. I am optimistic that the change in mood that I am sensing and the improvement to our financial position is really the start to a greater prosperity for us that will enable us to move forward in pursuit of our mission and vision in more and more tangible ways within our inner and outer communities.

Share the Collection

_The Congregation shares our Sunday Offering weekly with a local non-profit that serves our greater Sonoma County, including our Saturday Breakfast For Our Neighbors. The schedule of giving is arranged by A4SJ several months in advance, from suggestions by members of the Congregation. Please request a future-recipient form at the A4SJ table on Sundays._

September 6: The Living Room—the only day center in Sonoma County specifically serving homeless and at-risk women and children. Their mission is to ease adversity, promote stability, dignity, and self-reliance for these women & children.

September 13: Becoming Independent—a 40 yr old community-based service organization to help people with disabilities live meaningful and productive lives in Sonoma, Napa and Solano counties. Their mission is to afford men and women the opportunity to be productive, engaged community members through individualized support plans.

September 20: The Sonoma County Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA) Program—committed to serving abused and neglected children coming before the Juvenile Court for protection and rehabilitation services. The purpose of the CASA program is to humanize the complex child-welfare system for children who’ve suffered abuse by providing a trained volunteer to act as a consistent role model, advocate, and potential life connection. In Sonoma County there are currently 171 children served by 133 CASA’s and 35 children who need an advocate assigned to them.

September 27: Breakfast For Our Neighbors—our own Saturday breakfast program to feed homeless and needy folks every Saturday in our Social Hall. We have many volunteers from our Congregation, and continue to rely on the generous financial support of the Congregation.

October 4: Worth Our Weight (WOW) offers apprenticeships to young people from 16 to 24 who have faced major challenges in their lives: foster care, difficulties with the law, homelessness, and significant family disruption. They provide tuition-free culinary and food service training.

HOT TOPIC HOT TOPIC HOT TOPIC

September Hot Topic - “CASA”

_Sunday, September 13, 12:45 am in the Board Room_

CASA is a National organization that came into existence in Sonoma County 19 years ago when a Juvenile Judge determined some children needed additional support. When a judge determines a child’s situation to be volatile enough (from abuse, neglect or abandonment), to remove the child from his or her home, many times the judge will use a CASA as an advocate when no one else in the family can act in this role.

The CASA volunteer has three essential roles as an advocate:

- To be the child’s voice in Court, to complement the Juvenile Court/Child Welfare system by researching and assessing the circumstances of each case and reporting their recommendations and findings; to continue to support the child and the progress of the case as it moves through the system.
- Because of the growing number of cases filed in Juvenile Court and dwindling resources to adequately monitor the cases, judges find the CASA volunteers to be positive complements to providing the information necessary to make better informed decisions.
- The speaker will be Heidi Alvarez, who had been a CASA volunteer for 6 years and is now a member of the CASA staff. She will talk about CASA’s history, her background and role with CASA, what CASA’s do and how to become a CASA. She will also be showing a program DVD with short interviews of CASA’s and their youth. Please come learn more about this organization. There are currently 35 children waiting for a CASA to be assigned to them.

Among the top reasons we are drawn to the Unitarian Universalist faith are openness of thought and spirit, the sense of community we create, and our commitment to social justice. These same ideals are at the center of religious education programming for children and youth. Parents bring children to RE not to have their children stamped with imperatives of dogma, but for exploration of what faith means, and for growth and learning in values that promote lives lived with dignity, respect and responsibility.

This an amazing gift we offer children but it doesn’t implore parents to bring children to RE with as much consistency as if they were brought to Sunday school for their “salvation.”

We don’t offer salvation in the sense of the guarantee of eternal life in heaven. But we do offer our children hope and trust in the loving life that surrounds them in this life on earth.

The message of RE is a beautiful antidote for the social pressures children face in the larger culture. The more secular definition of salvation is “deliverance from harm.” When children and youth are taught how to live in peace, when they learn about the ways other have fought for justice, they learn how they can make a difference too. When children and youth are affirmed for the way they are, not what they look like, or whether they adhere to the current cause of cool, they are saved from the harm of judgment and cynicism. They are opened up, and they are held in light.

It takes a strong sense of community for the depth of this teaching to be felt. It takes the establishment of trust in the community of the classroom. This can’t happen when children only come occasionally.

We will be teaching peace and justice all year, at all class levels in R.E. We will be teaching the inner peace of meditation to everyone from our youngest kindergarteners to our oldest teens. Children and youth will learn peaceful conflict resolution. They will explore issues of justice through age appropriate lessons. They will do community service and service for the congregation.

This year is devoted to the fifth principle of Unitarian Universalism: the goal of world community with peace, liberty, and justice for all. At all grade levels this will require listening, learning and participating.

I am asking parents to make a conscious decision to make UU RE a priority this year. To make a commitment to the children and to the RE program so that we can develop a true sense of community in our classrooms. I am asking that, unless something really important prevents it, you will bring your child to RE every Sunday. Many adults from the congregation have made the commitment to teach RE classes throughout the year. They are ready and eager to share a special time with your children every week.

In faith, Deborah

SPIRIT OF LIFE WORKSHOPS
PRESENTED BY REV. CHRIS
Nine Tuesdays at 7:00 pm: Sept. 22 and 29; October 6, 13, 27; November 3, 17, 24; December 1.

Don't need to sign up .... just show up!

Spirit of Life workshops offer participants space, time, and community to explore their Unitarian Universalist spirituality. Each focuses on a different aspect of the spiritual life, framed by the lyrics of Carolyn McDade's song "Spirit of Life." Like the song, the workshops are designed to be welcoming to Unitarian Universalists of many spiritual and theological persuasions. Participants are invited to claim an inclusive definition of spirituality and recognize the spiritual aspects of their lives. Reflecting, speaking, and listening are core activities in each workshop.

Barbara Hamilton-Holway's Spirit of Life program seeks to be like the song from which it derives its name and bring meaning, beauty, inclusivity, and growth to Unitarian Universalist adults as they deepen their spiritual awareness and connections. The Spirit of Life program taps into one of the central functions of religion, eloquently described by minister Kendyl Gibbons: "... how we—each of us, in our uniquely constituted beings—recognize and understand and make sense of that unbidden, overwhelming awe at the wonder, magnificence, danger, demand, and delight of being alive."

Workshop 1: Spirit of Life: Exploring Spirituality for Unitarian Universalists
Workshop 2: Sing in My Heart: Celebrations and Rituals
Workshop 3: The Stirrings of Compassion: Caring for One Another
Workshop 4: Blow in the Wind, Rise in the Sea: Nature and Spirit
Workshop 5: Move in the Hand: Living our Spirituality in Our Day-to-Day Lives
Workshop 6: Giving Life the Shape of Justice: The Spirituality of Working for Change
Workshop 7: Roots Hold Me Close: Tradition, Teachers, and Spiritual Formation
Workshop 8: Wings Set Me Free: Hopes, Dreams, and Expanding Visions

Philanthropy Team

“PHILANTHROPY - the practice of giving money and time to help make life better for other people.” Merriam-Webster

Sounds simple, but it embodies so much – and it also embodies so much of our Principles and our Covenant. As for many of us, life is usually not easy, and the constant pull is to pay attention to me, myself, my life, my needs. But our practice of philanthropy gives frequent opportunities to reach out beyond myself and contribute to something that I can count on to help make life better for others. Sometimes it’s my money. Sometimes it’s my time, or my talent.

Every time I give, I’m moved. My heart opens and I deeply experience being connected and helping others. I know that I love and am loved, and that I have had some part in making a difference in our world.

I so appreciate being given opportunities to be a bigger, better person – the person our Principles call me to be, and who I most want to be.

NBOP Update (NORTH BAY ORGANIZING PROJECT)

Partners for Social Justice

The North Bay Organizing Project (NBOP) is the interfaith/non-partisan political power organization that UUCSR is helping to build in Sonoma County. UUCAN is the UU Conversation and Action Network. We are the group within the congregation that interfaces with NBOP.

The NBOP highlight in August was the Power Analysis Workshop held at UUCSR on Aug. 15. We began the afternoon with a very funny video: A message from the Republican Party: DON’T Vote! It was a humorous introduction to power, what creates it and who has it. The I.V.E. Team of NBOP (Integrated Voter Engagement) sponsored the day. They presented a massive amount of research they had done about donations to the campaigns of our Board of Supervisors and the Santa Rosa City Council.

Two task forces, Transit and Housing, broke into separate groups to analyze that financial data along with officials’ voting records on the issues we have been trying to exert influence at their meetings. We located where each elected official belongs on a scatter plot with two axes: 1) how supportive s/he is of the issues we are working on and 2) how much power s/he has. Then we translated all that into practical plans about which officials are most important for us to sway, how to appeal to them given how they are influenced by their donors and very importantly what other groups would be our best allies. It was a lively and very interesting 2 hours.

If you would like to see where our elected officials got money for their last campaign, please contact Sara Jones, who will share the data with you.

NBOP will continue to attend key City Council and Board of Supervisor meetings in September. For the Housing Task Force, Sept 1 and Sept 15 are important dates when rent stabilization and housing voucher discrimination, respectively, will be discussed by the City Council.

Please contact Sara Jones to find out when UUCAN will meet in September.

Music Notes

Special Music for the first service this month on September 6 will be sung by Eric Skagerberg and Robin Rogers, "The Greatest Story Never Told," by John McCutcheon. Here are some of the lyrics: "Once again we gather here as the night grows long deep in the year. It is a season of light of prayer and fasting, and the endless longing for love everlasting."

On Sunday, September 13, at our Ingathering services, the choir will be back to begin singing for both services a piece, "Love Reign O'er Me," written by Pete Townshend. This is a classical version of the original piece performed by "The Who," which was later performed by the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra and the London Oriana Choir. Here are some of the lyrics: "Only love can make it rain the way the beach is kissed by the sea. Only love can make it rain like the sweat of lovers layin' in the fields. Love, reign o'er me. Love, reign o'er me. Rain on me, rain on me."

The services on September 20 will have much music provided by a group of our excellent musicians: Roger Corman (Piano), Robin Rogers (Guitar), Ruth Ahlers (Saxophone), Cathy Read (Soprano), Dan Reynolds (Bass), and Al Liner (Drummer). They will provide the following well known pieces of music: Prelude, "It's a Good Day" by Peggy Lee; Special Music, "Nature Boy" by Nat King Cole; and Postlude, "Accentuate the Positive" by Harold Arlen.

Tyler Johnson will finally be back to play piano for the Offertory and Hymns. For the last services on September 27 the choir will be singing again.

FINALLY, just a friendly reminder that if there is anything important you would like to discuss with me, I VERY MUCH PREFER a phone call to an email. You can reach me at the office, or on my cell phone throughout the day and evening. Whether you have a pastoral care situation or emergency, want to discuss congregational business, desire a spiritual conversation, are seeking advice, or are just offering a dinner invitation or spare tickets to the orchestra (nudge, nudge, wink, wink) the phone is always the best way to get me. You can text me, too. I’m here for you at 707-849-8770. Thanks!

Peace, Rev. Chris
